	Plaintiff,	)
vs.		) Report and Recommendation
Greenville County Courthouse,		) ) )
	Defendants.	) )

Background of this Case

Plaintiff is an inmate at the Perry Correctional Institution of the South Carolina Department of Corrections. The South Carolina Department of Corrections website (www.doc.sc.gov) reveals that Plaintiff is serving a life sentence for murder. Plaintiff's murder conviction was entered in the Court of General Sessions for Greenville County in 1975. Plaintiff has brought suit against the Greenville County Courthouse for matters pertaining to his convictions and sentences. Plaintiff alleges that the Defendant changed his original sentence of life plus fifteen years to life plus thirty years. In his prayer for relief, Plaintiff seeks "some money" and a new trial.

Discussion

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of the pro se complaint pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915, 28 U.S.C. § 1915A, and the Prison Litigation Reform Act. The review has been conducted in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Maryland House of Correction, 64 F.3d 951 (4th Cir. 1995)(en banc); Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983); Loe v. Armistead, 582 F.2d 1291 (4th Cir. 1978); and Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F.2d 1147, 1151 (4th Cir. 1978). Plaintiff is a pro se litigant, and thus his/her pleadings are accorded liberal construction. See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89 (2007)(per curiam); Hughes v. Rowe, 449 U.S. 5, 9-10 & n. 7 (1980)(per curiam); and Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319 (1972). When a federal court is evaluating a pro se complaint or petition, the plaintiff's or petitioner's allegations are assumed to be true. Fine v. City of New York, 529 F.2d 70, 74 (2nd Cir. 1975). Even so, a plaintiff must plead factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is plausibly liable, not merely possibly liable. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 1949, 173 L.Ed.2d 868 (2009). Even under this less stringent standard, the § 1983 Complaint is subject to summary dismissal. The requirement of liberal construction does not mean that the court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Department of Social Services, 901 F.2d 387 (4th Cir. 1990).

*Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B) and Local Civil Rule 73.02 DSC, the undersigned is authorized to review such complaints for relief and submit findings and recommendations to the District Court.

The Greenville County Courthouse is a building complex. Buildings cannot be sued pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Jones v. Lexington County Detention Center, 586 F. Supp. 2d 444, 451 (D.S.C. 2008).

Since Plaintiff is challenging criminal proceedings which resulted in his convictions and sentences, this case is subject to summary dismissal because a right of action has not accrued. See Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1994):

We hold that, in order to recover damages for allegedly unconstitutional conviction or imprisonment, or for other harm caused by actions whose unlawfulness would render a conviction or sentence invalid, a § 1983 plaintiff must prove that the conviction or sentence has been reversed on direct appeal, expunged by executive order, declared invalid by a state tribunal authorized to make such a determination, or called into question by a federal court's issuance of a writ of habeas corpus, 28 U.S.C. § 2254. A claim for damages bearing that relationship to a conviction or sentence that has not been so invalidated is not cognizable under § 1983. Thus, when a state prisoner seeks damages in a § 1983 suit, the district court must consider whether a judgment in favor of the plaintiff would necessarily imply the invalidity of his conviction or sentence; if it would, the complaint must be dismissed unless the plaintiff can demonstrate that the conviction or sentence has already been invalidated.

Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. at 486-48 (footnote omitted).

It is possible that Plaintiff was actually intending to name the Court of General Sessions for Greenville County as a defendant. The Court of General Sessions for Greenville County is a court in the State of South Carolina's unified judicial system. See S.C. Const. art. V, § 1 ("The judicial power shall be vested in a unified judicial system, which shall include a Supreme Court, a Court of Appeals, a Circuit Court, and such other courts of uniform jurisdiction as may be provided for by general law."); City of Pickens v. Schmitz, 376 S.E.2d 271, 272 (1989); Spartanburg County Dept.

of Social Services v. Padgett, 370 S.E.2d 872, 875-76 & n. 1 (1988); and Cort Industries Corp. v.

Swirl, Inc., 213 S.E.2d 445, 446 (1975).

As part of the State of South Carolina's unified judicial system, the Court of General

Sessions for Greenville County is immune from suit under the Eleventh Amendment, which divests this court of jurisdiction to entertain a suit brought against the State of South Carolina or its integral parts, such as a state agency or department. See, e.g., Federal Maritime Commission v. South Carolina State Ports Authority, 535 U.S. 743 (2002); Board of Trustees of University of Alabama

v. Garrett, 531 U.S. 356 (2001); Kimel v. Florida Board of Regents, 528 U.S. 62 (2000); Alden v.

Maine, 527 U.S. 706 (1999); Pennhurst State School & Hospital v. Halderman, 465 U.S. 89 (1984)

(although express language of Eleventh Amendment only forbids suits by citizens of other States against a State, Eleventh Amendment bars suits against a State filed by its own citizens); Virginia

v. Reinhard, 568 F.3d 110 (4th Cir. 2009); Belcher v. South Carolina Board of Corrections, 460

F. Supp. 805, 808-809 (D.S.C. 1978); and Simmons v. South Carolina State Highway Dept., 195

F. Supp. 516, 517 (E.D.S.C. 1961).

Recommendation

Accordingly, it is recommended that the District Court dismiss the above-captioned case without prejudice and without issuance and service of process. Plaintiff's attention is directed to the Notice on the next page.
